

Rolling Plan for Ukraine

As of April 2018

Basic Policy of Assistance	Boosting autonomous and sustainable growth
Priority Area 1	Support for economic stability
Development issue 1-1 Improvement of economic and investment environment	[Background and current situation] Despite the promotion of a market economy, Ukraine is facing such difficulties as fiscal and current account deficits, low foreign exchange reserves and increasing geopolitical risks. Its economy has been stagnating, showing negative growth in 2014 and 2015. Moreover in the energy sector the supply of natural gas from Russia as well the supply of coal from eastern regions are unstable and the introduction of energy saving technologies remains an urgent issue for the country. In the electricity sector construction and modernisation of old transmission, distribution facilities and coal-fired power stations as well as promotion of renewable energy have become urgent issues.					[Strategy] For Ukraine to break out from its sluggish economic situation and ensure its sustainable economic development, Japan provides financial assistance and supports for the development of economic infrastructure. Furthermore in order to ensure the fiscal consolidation of Ukraine, Japan transfers its technologies using best practices and provides support for development of human resources. Since the instability of the energy and electricity sectors hinders the further development of industry and investment, support is provided mainly to the ministries and public executing agencies which are responsible for building the foundation.

Priority Area 3	Promotion of autonomous governance and internal reconciliation
Development issue 3-1 Improvement of governance	[Background and current situation] The weaknesses of governance in Ukraine, including corruption inherited from the former USSR, are pointed out as those hampering domestic economic activities and attracting investment. Under a co-financing arrangement with the World Bank, Japan is working to promote good governance as well as to raise transparency and accountability in the public sector. But to overcome this challenge it is essential for Ukraine itself to implement bold and comprehensive reforms.					[Strategy] Japan supports the further promotion of institutional reform of the Ukrainian government through capacity building for legislative and administrative agencies and sharing Japan's experience and knowledge in governance, anti-corruption training, enhancement in the operational and maintenance capacity of neutral and fair public broadcasting with the aim of preventing fraud and corruption.

Development issue 3-2 Promotion of internal reconciliation	[Background and current situation] The security situation in the eastern part of Ukraine has worsened with the rise of rebels and as a result many internally displaced people including socially vulnerable people such as women and children have emerged. The need for humanitarian assistance is increasing because of the lack of social services due to the destruction of buildings and basic living goods such as water and food.					[Strategy] Japan supports humanitarian and infrastructure restoration through international organisations in order to improve the humanitarian situation around the eastern region.
